Fey Ancestry. You have advantage on saving throws against being charmed, and magic can't put you to sleep.

Eyes of Shadow. You have advantage on Saves against detecting illusions (Magic) and if you or a other friendly Shadar-Kai casts the Darkness Spell you can see through. Also a creature can not get advantage on Stealth checks against you by hiding only in darkness.

Shadow Curse. Any time you get stunned, petrified, paralyzed or unconscious (expect if it's because of willingly sleeping) you need to succeed on a DC 15 Will save or a part of your soul gets dragged to the Plane of Shadow. If the soul is fully eaten by the Planes of Shadow (note hp for your soul or better ask your dm) you transform to a wraith (and die). You can use a gal-ralan to keep your soul and body connected. You can not be raised from the dead or resurrected while you suffer from this curse. While on the Plane of Shadow the curse has no effect and can be cured with a greater restoration spell. On the Material Plane only a wish or miracle spell can end the curse. A remove curse spell does nothing against this curse.

To avoid being affected by the curse, most Shadar-Kai live extreme lifestyles, embracing strong emotions and peak experiences. Most of them use pain to keep their focus, decorating their bodies with tattoos, scarification and piercings in extremely sensitive parts of their bodies. Likewise, some of them engage in self-flagellation, to the point of self-harm if they fell that they getting overtaken by the curse.
